

close links between art and poetry, but also focuses on the role of culture facing the State-led terrorism – specifically last dictatorship in Argentina (1976–1983) – and culture’s function in the processes of (re)constitution of memory at the individual and national levels after the dictatorship.