A NEW VOYAGE TO ITALY.

To D. W. Esq;

LETTER I.

S I R,

HOLLAND is a Country so near and so well known to yours, that I should, perhaps, have said nothing of it, had not your express Commands oblig'd me to it; in compliance therefore with your Desires, I will endeavour to give you an Idea of this admirable Country; with some particular Remarks concerning the Cities I shall have occasion to see. But I must first tell you, that there are so many things in Holland that deserve to be seen by every curious Person, and can hardly be seen any where else, that I think it impossible you should decline making a Voyage thither. The Passage over is but short, and you will have
