

to matter-of-fact people like myself, an English fireside, a Scottish mountain, or an Irish glen, have more attractions in this respect than any Zenana in Arabia; and the women who inhabit them, with purity in the heart and intellect on the brow, and a cottage-bonnet on the head, much better worth risking life for, than all the turbaned voluptuous beauty of the East.